AN ORIGINAL CREATION FROM LE THÉÂTRE DE L'OEIL OUVERT

A story that has resonated for a very long time and that, this time, will be told through the mouths of those who have not spoken enough. A story from the past, which reflects our thoughts today and which surprisingly reflects certain aspects of our current situation: The legend of La Corriveau!

In the course of an investigation and a trial of a thousand paces, the many discrepancies and distortions of this woman's tragic story will be brought to life. This story has a broad back... It drags in its wake women by the thousands, murdered women, women pointed at for having spoken, for having dared, for having sung too loudly, for having howled at the moon and danced in the light... The witches of yesterday gave birth to all those who still burn today. The only thing that has changed is the way to die.
